Description

One-of-a-Kind 1.20ct Natural Fancy Light Pink Heart Diamond Engagement Ring
GIA Certified | VVS1 Clarity

There are diamonds. Then there are pink diamonds. And then there is this.

The Center Stone

A 1.20 carat natural Fancy Light Pink heart-shaped diamond, GIA certified VVS1 — a clarity grade so exceptional it places this stone among the rarest of the rare. Pink diamonds of any size are a phenomenon; a heart-shaped pink at this clarity is a once-in-a-lifetime encounter.

The Setting

The heart is cradled in yellow gold prongs — a deliberate choice to deepen and warm the pink's natural blush. A halo of pink-toned round brilliant diamonds encircles the center in rose gold, amplifying the color story before giving way to the outer world of white.

A cascading double halo of white marquise and pear-shaped diamonds radiates outward in white gold, framing the pink center like a spotlight — every white stone exists solely to make the pink more powerful.

Diamond pavé continues down the shank, ensuring brilliance from every angle.

Why This Ring Exists Once

Natural pink diamonds are no longer mined at scale. The Argyle Mine is closed. What exists is what exists. A GIA-certified Fancy Light Pink heart at VVS1 is not a product — it is a piece of natural history, set for one person, forever.

GIA certificate available. Private viewing by appointment.
